MARYLAND TRANSIT ADMINISTRATION

Dear Friends: Thank you for your interest in Maryland and our award-winning public

Martin O'Malley, Governor transportation system operated by the Maryland Transit Administration (MTA). With Local Bus, Commuter Bus, Light Rail, Metro Subway, MARC Train and Mobility/Paratransit options, the MTA can quickly and affordably transport you throughout the Baltimore region and Central Maryland.

You are holding one of the best resources to help you get around our area. The MTA System Maps Guide is a clear example of our focus on delivering quality er service to the hundreds of thousands of pe who use our system each day. It also represents our more comprehensive effort now underway to improve the effectiveness and efficiency of our overall transit network.

The MTA System Maps Guide is packed with important information on MTA fares, riding policies, how-to-ride instructions, safety and security advisories, places of interest, useful telephone numbers, and MTA transportation programs.

The various transit maps inside portray colorful, easy-to-follow routes where the MTA travels, where bus, light rail and heavy rail systems connect and the system's relationship with neighboring transit systems such as Amtrak and Washington, DC's Metrorail System.

Whether for work, school or recreation, we hope you refer to this MTA System Maps Guide and get onboard. We thank you for riding the MTA.

Martin O'Malley, Governor Anthony G. Brown, Lt. Governor

MARC Train Service

(Weekdays Only - Sat./Sun. Penn Line service begins 12/7/13)

MARC offers three lines:

Penn Line from Perryville, MD (Cecil County) to Baltimore and Washington, DC; Camden Line from Downtown Baltimore to Washington, DC; and Brunswick Line from Martinsburg, WV or Frederick, MD to Washington, DC.

One-way adult fares range from $4.00 to $14.00. There are special low rates ($2.00-7.00 one-way) for seniors and individuals with disabilities.

MARC Train monthly and weekly tickets are also valid for MTA Local Buses, Neighborhood Shuttles, Light Rail, Baltimore Metro Subway, WMATA Metrobuses in the DC area and RIDE ON buses in Montgomery County, MD.

A MARC Transit Link Card (TLC) for an additional $108, extends monthly ticket services to include unlimited travel on WMATA Metrorail. MARC monthly tickets and TLC Cards are available online at: www.commuterdirect.com, 410-697-2212 or charge by credit card by calling 703-228-7433.

AMTRAK Self Service Ticket (SST) Kiosks accept all major credit cards, and can be found at most MARC and AMTRAK stations. Cash or vouchers cannot be used for purchases. Senior/Disability and Student Advantage tickets are also available at SST Kiosks. SST Kiosks are accessible to the visually impaired.

How to ride MARC Train

- Purchase a ticket before boarding, or from the conductor onboard for an additional $3.00 fee (CASH ONLY, charged if station ticket office is open at train departure time - or if the station has a ticket machine).
- Non-folding bicycles, smoking or audio devices without earphones are not allowed onboard.
- · Listen for the conductor's station announcements.
- · Exit when the doors open, and take all your belongings with you.
